TITLE INDEX	115

INTRODUCTION

The growing interest in Native Indian languages in the past few years necessitates the production of this revised bibliography. It is intended for any person with a desire for knowledge of the native languages of Manitoba. Its usefulness ranges from the 'browser' to the 'scholarly minded'. The bibliography has a diversity of information regarding the languages of the Algonquian, Chipewyan/Dene, Cree, Ojibway (Chippewa, Saulteaux, Odjibwe) and Dakota. The material presented dates back from pre - 1890 to 1984 and is available from the following universities and libraries:

Brandon University
Manitoba Education Library
People's Library
University of Manitoba
Centennial Library
University of Winnipeg
Native Education Branch

The call numbers have been included for easier access and annotations for these selections have been written where it was possible.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This revised bibliography has become a reality through the unselfish efforts of the staff members at the various institutions where the material was obtained. To them, a special "thank you".

Special mention must be given to John D. Nichols, Linguistics Programme (Native Studies), University of Manitoba, whose expert knowledge of the Algonquian language provided most of the annotations obtained.

We are, likewise, indebted to Louise Lambert for her zeal, patience and meticulousness in the typing of this bibliography, from a semblance of a manuscript to its final draft.

This bibliography has been the work of Martin Beardy, a University of Manitoba student in his final year of study in the Bachelor of Arts program, majoring in Native Studies. His efforts in the research and collection of the manuscript materials was invaluable in the successful completion of this project.
